

YANKEES TAKE FIRST GAME OF SERIES BY SHUTTING OUT GIANTS

Thirty One Thousand People Witness Initial Clash In New York Wednesday Afternoon—Weather Clear

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 5.—Youth would be served in this crater of baseball fans today, when the New York Yankees, champions of the American League, defeated the New York Giants, leaders of the National League by the score of 3 to 0 in the first game of the annual World series.

The junior league representatives hopped into the lead in the very first stanza by hammering out one run off Fighting Phil Douglas and they kept hammering at McGraw's hurler in this manner every chance they got during the rest of the afternoon. In the fifth they added another single run, and in the sixth counted again by a single marker. This ended the scoring.

McGraw kept Douglas on the hillcock to keep sending his sluggers to the plate with the determination to knock Carl Mays, Huggins' selection out of the box, but with little avail. Mays made the senior league batters keep their distance throughout and was never in serious danger. Barnes replaced Douglas in the ninth and set the Yanks down with no score.

The score:

Yankees	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

Batteries: Giants—Douglas and Snyder; Yankees—Mays and Schang. Umpires: Rigler at the plate; Moriarty at first base; Quigley at second base; Chitt at third base.

Attendance: 31,000. Weather: Clear and very cool.

Thirty-one thousand people packed themselves into the stands early today for the first game of the first World Series baseball classic which this city has ever cornered entirely to itself.

The weather was clear and bright but very cool, and spectators in the shadow of the stand huddled in overcoats while they waited for the classic to get started. Seats were all sold out before the opening day and many were on hand to secure the best place early this morning.

Thousands of fans, armed with precious reserved seat tickets and other thousands who had to be content to take a chance on "crashing" the gate started their march on Polo grounds at sun up.

Though the opening game was not scheduled to start until 2 o'clock until eastern time the intense interest in the battle between the rival New York pennant winners and the limited accommodations at the Polo grounds caused New Yorkers to fall all over each other in the rush for tickets.

The grand stadium will comfortably seat some 38,000 fans. About 20,000 of these seats are reserved, the rest being sold at the ticket windows the day of each game.

FIRST PENSIONS TO TEACHERS OF OHIO ARE PAID UNDER ACT

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—First pensions under the new Ohio teachers' retirement system have just been paid.

Two hundred and ninety-four teachers who retired Sept. 1 yesterday received $12,512.26 as their first month's pension. By the end of the year, if they all live that long, $150,147 will have been paid out to them.

The average individual pay is $42.50 a month, or $510 a year.

The oldest pensioner was W. H. Pabodie, aged more than 90 years, who died Sept. 2, after being entitled to two days' pension. He taught for years in Cincinnati. Last year he taught only half the year, being ill the remainder.

Of the living, the oldest man is 83 and woman 80. The length of service of those retired varies from 36 to 54 years. Nearly all began in country schools at about $30 a month. The number includes 174 women and 120 men.

According to W. E. Kershner, secretary of the retirement board, the retirement fund, which now amounts to $4,500,000, some day will exceed that of the state industrial commission. It will keep on growing annually until it reaches a point where yearly payments equal receipts, after which the fund will remain substantially stationary.

If all those retired this year were aged 65, the reserve needed to keep up allotted pensions until the last person dies would be $1,380,000, according to Kershner. The pension is based on salary and length of service in Ohio. The maximum salary used in calculations is $2,000.

The state board has taken over 21 city pension systems, all that existed in the state except Toledo's.

In the list of beneficiaries this year is John W. Zeller, instructor at Bowling Green Normal School, former state school commissioner.

STEEL MANUFACTURER CALLED BY DEATH

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Funeral services for Randolph Stephen Warner, Sr., 640 E. Broad St., whose death occurred yesterday at Geneva, Ohio, will not be arranged until the body arrives here today. Death, caused by a third stroke of apoplexy, came suddenly to Mr. Warner while at Geneva, just seven miles from Maplewood Farm, Unionville, Lake County, where he was born, Nov. 21, 1853.

Since his retirement he has been a member of the board of directors of the Hayden-Clinton National Bank, the Buckeye Steel Castings Co., the State Savings Bank and Trust Co., The People's Savings and Trust Co., the Rocking Valley Railroad, the Scioto Rolling Train Co., and was vice president of the Columbus and Xenia Railroad. He was also interested in various other business and manufacturing concerns.

DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS EXIST IN FEDERAL COURTS OF NATION

Washington, Oct. 5.—Deplorable conditions in the federal courts of the United States due to congestion of prohibition cases and other classes of civil and criminal business, were described by Attorney General Daugherty today before the senate judiciary committee. The attorney general asked that congress enact legislation providing for 18 district judges at large, to be assigned to the more crowded districts to clear up the jam or litigation.

The attorney general said that the court dockets all over the country are loaded with cases awaiting trial and that in many of them the Government's cases may be entirely lost through the disappearance of material witnesses or the removal of others.

Daugherty said that 142,400 cases, both civil and criminal, are pending in the federal courts in the United States. Criminal cases pending number about 50,000, a large percentage of them being cases growing out of violations of the Volstead act. Civil cases numbering about 60,000 are also recorded as waiting trial. Other large groups of cases on the dockets still pending include violations of wartime laws and the tax, revenue, and bankruptcy laws.

President Harding May Put Shoulder To Wheel of Congress To Speed Work

Rumors of Dissatisfaction Because of Slowness Reach Chief.

Washington, Oct. 5.—President Harding is considering a trip to the capitol to put his shoulder to the wheel of congress in an effort to speed up the legislative machinery, it was learned today.

Rumors of wide dissatisfaction because of slow movement by congress have reached the president and he has been advised by some of the high officials in his administration to appear before congress and deliver a speech urging expedition in matters of legislation.

Rep. Mondell, majority leader of the house, was to confer with the president today and it was planned to lay down a program for the house which might make it possible for that body to adjourn before the armament conference November 11.

If the president can get no assurance from Rep. Mondell that the house will set to work immediately to clean its legislative slate, it is probable that he will elect to appear before the congress and state his desires.

At present the house is merely marking time although it is the plan of leaders to start work next week upon the reappropriation bill, a measure which will bring protracted debate and is of little concern to those interested and anxious for speedy action by congress.

The president wishes the railroad refunding bill passed quickly, in as much as this is the one legislative measure which is regarded as the government's contribution to the solution of the unemployment problem.

The foreign debt funding bill is another measure which administration leaders are anxious to see out of the way.

In the senate, business is in a tangle. The senate has agreed to dispose of the Borah free tolls bill Oct. 10 and of ratification of the German treaty Oct. 14, but the tax revision and tariff bills still remain matters of contention far past the stage.

Congress is hearing from home and it is not pleased with what it hears. House members who recently returned to their homes for the recess admit that they had to do a great deal of explaining. Every one admits something must be done but no one seems to know what to do and it appears probable that the president will be forced to take a hand.

ATTEMPT TO INTRODUCE SECRET DIPLOMACY INTO LEAGUE FAILS

America on Verge of Era of Economic Prosperity

American Bankers Association Told "Of vast improvement in General Business and Financial Situation—Leadership Urged."

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—The economic policy commission of the American Bankers Association believes that America is on the verge of a new era of economic prosperity.

In a report to the convention today the commission said:

"The commission recognizes with satisfaction that the worst of the credit stringency seems to be over and it appears that the country has borne the period of stress remarkably well. Natural recuperative forces are now making for recovery and there is every reason to believe that when wages have been readjusted and normal balance is reestablished between industries and between nations our country will enter upon a new era of prosperity and advancement."

The optimistic forecast of the commission was echoed by D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, who spoke today before the national bank section of the convention. Crissinger told the bankers:

"It is my pleasure to bring your word of a vast improvement in the general business and financial situation. The last year has been marked by a steady liquidation of credits long standing and a persistent increase in the volume of cash available for current business. The outlook by whatever standard judged is better now than in many months."

Crissinger declared the financial fabric of America has been so strengthened that our banks possess resources and responsibility aggregating more than all the rest of the banking resources of the world. "The truth is, it seems to me," Crissinger said, "that if we be fair with institutions that have served us well, we will have to admit that they are stronger, sounder and more logical than we ourselves believed them to be."

Circumstances demand, Crissinger said, "that America now assume a role of leadership. The rehabilitation of Europe is the key to our whole economic and industrial situation" he said. "We cannot effectively help to rehabilitate Europe by merely doling out aid without system or foresight. Our part of leadership must be played by using our influence to induce Europe to help herself."

RED CROSS ONLY ORGANIZATION IN WORLD ENTIRELY ABOVE SUSPICION SAYS DOCTOR

First National Congress of Workers Opens in Columbus Tuesday Evening—Speakers Present Activities At Initial Meeting.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—"The Red Cross is the only organization in the world which is entirely above suspicion," said Dr. O. W. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, addressing the more than 1,000 delegates from all sections of the nation attending the opening session here of the first national congress of the American Red Cross.

"The Red Cross has been accepted universally because it seeks to take advantage of no one," continued President Thompson.

"We must give the most careful scrutiny to our methods. That is the reason for this convention," declared Dr. Livingston Farrand, president elect of Cornell university and retiring chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross.

"It is to perpetuate the spirit of idealism of the war and to gain inspiration from contact with each other," Dr. Livingston said. "Our duty to the ex-service man is supreme just now. He must be taken care of before we turn to the other problems which we are to meet."

Letters from President Harding and Chief Justice Taft of the U. S. Supreme court, expressing regret at their inability to attend the convention were read by Dr. Farrand.

Greene County streams have been stocked with 50,000 fish and another carload is expected soon according to the report of Karl Keller, Greene County game protector, at the meeting of the Fish and Game Protective Association held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

How an EXPECTANT MOTHER Prepared for Baby's Coming

DO YOU know that thousands of women never really suffer at child-birth? Perhaps you have thought with many others that this should always be the case. But how?

Let Mrs. Mattie Paul, of Ocilla, Ga., tell you. She is one of thousands who has demonstrated this fact:

"As I am a young mother of one baby, I am writing for free booklet to 'expectant mothers.' I used only two bottles of Mother's Friend before I was confined and had a quick and easy time through labor. I can recommend Mother's Friend to all expectant mothers. I will never go through pregnancy without it."

You, too, can have this booklet for expectant mothers by sending coupon below.

It goes into the features of maternity and gives, in a plain, interesting manner, information about what the mother needs in clothing before baby is born; what clothing will be necessary for the baby; an interesting table as to the probable date of delivery; simple but necessary and helpful rules of hygiene to follow, and much other worth-while information. This little booklet also tells about Mother's Friend and the wonderful good it is doing for expectant mothers.

Don't let false modesty keep you from performing this duty to yourself—your family—and your baby.

Send for your copy NOW.

LOCAL PROGRAM GIVEN BY XENIA WOMAN'S CLUB

The life and works of Fred C. Kelly former Xenian and well known magazine writer and humorist were the subject of a paper at the opening seasonal meeting of the Junior Woman's Club held at home of Mrs. Charles Fisher of West Second street Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. S. O. Hale, a classmate of Mr. Kelly at Central High School, here, presented this part of the program. Mrs. Hale pointed out that "In spite of what he, himself, says to the contrary, he has achieved results through effort and purpose toward a definite end, all of which has made a name for him in the literary world." In presenting her paper, Mrs. Hale gave Mr. Kelly's autobiography, which appears in "Who's Who in America," and read a tribute of George Ade, personal friend of the local man.

Taking up for discussion as it does, the most interesting things of literature, art and current topics, this is thought to be the first time in the history of the club that a real Xenia Day has been observed, in which the program dealt entirely with local history and local celebrities.

Mrs. Harry D. Smith, as chairman, spoke a brief welcome to members at the opening meeting of the club year, and touched on the death during the past year of Mrs. Hetty Hubbell and Mrs. Helene Corry, both former members. The death of these two members, said the chairman, represented the first break in the ranks of the members in many years.

Mrs. Smith also announced that the subject of the year will be American writers, and announced the program of the afternoon.

In dealing with her history of Xenia and Greene County, Mrs. R. S. Kingsbury, who presented the first paper on the program, went back as far as the time of King James the First, of England, who granted by Royal charter to the Colony of Virginia, title to that great area of land then known as "the territory northwest of the Ohio," and traced down through the years the history of the country from its earliest days.

Fred Ridgely Torrence, begun his struggle to reach fame by way of the pen, in a garret in New York City, according to the paper presented by Mrs. D. D. Jones. The story of his life as told in Mrs. Jones paper, might have been that of many another young writer.

Because of the purely local subject of the program, the meeting was one of the most interesting ever held by the Club. Miss Emma Davidson, of this city, who has composed a number of musical selections, was to have appeared on the program, also, presenting her compositions, but was out of the city and will be a guest of the Club later.

DINNER STORIES

The reverend gentleman had for a long while back been worrying how to meet the parish expenses.

As he sat musing in front of his paraffin lamp, in the early hours of the morning, a bright scheme flashed through his mind.

The next Sunday morning, after mounting the pulpit, he gave out the following notice:

"Dear brethren, it grieves me much to tell you of the horrible thing that has occurred in this parish. Some one has stolen a fowl from the yard of one of our esteemed parishioners.

"To prove that I am not the receiver of ill gotten goods, will the thief refrain from putting anything into the plate?"

The subsequent collection more than covered all the expenses.

In a little village of La Vandee, France, there lived a young doctor who frequently drove into the nearest city. At the gates of this city was the customary customs officer who imposed the lawful duty upon all edibles entering the French town. This doctor, wishing to take some poultry with him and wishing to be honest and at the same time not to pay duty, drove into the city one day in a little cart with a pretty girl on either side of him. At the gate the guard asked: "Have you nothing to declare, doctor?"

"Nothing but two chickens and a rooster," he replied. The customs officer laughingly allowed him to pass.

Not long ago this same avader of customs passed through the gate, and an old retired customs officer said to him: "Ah, doctor, I am glad to see you back and to know that the rooster has returned a tiger"—and Clemenceau laughed at the memory of his smuggling.

SOUP SPILLED ON GUESTS BY ANGRY WAITERS

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Disorders broke out today in the waiters' strike. Strikers invaded public dining rooms where strike breakers were at work, smashing dishes and mirrors and pouring soup over the guests. # MAY EXCLUDE ALL EVIDENCE AGAINST EXCEPT LAST CASE

Twin Falls, Idaho, Oct. 5.—A bitter trial to exclude from the present trial any testimony having reference to circumstances surrounding the death of the three former husbands and a brother in law of Mrs. Lydia Southard, on trial for the murder of Edward F. Meyer, her fourth husband, began today.

The fight is expected to break when Deputy Sheriff V. H. Ormsby takes the stand as a witness for the state. Ormsby, who made the chief investigation that resulted in the filing of the murder charge against Mrs. Southard is regarded as the state's most important witness. He is expected to take the stand some time today or tomorrow.

Mrs. Southard, in the information on which she is now being tried is charged only with the murder of Meyer. It is contention of the state, that her former husbands died of arsenic poisoning.

and one of his legs injured, and John Lynch, here for a visit from Boston was shaken up and bruised pretty badly when the accident happened.

The young men say that they did not see the buggy in the road ahead of them as it did not carry any light and their own lights were dim. It is said that the buggy was not damaged and the people in it escaped injury.

who were passing, brought the young Fred Kuebler and Wilton Earle men to Wilmington and Dr. Kelley Hale dressed their wounds, and they are all doing nicely today.

For the sake of your babies see our baby today

FOR years this has been our hope—to develop a small, hot-water radiator-boiler that would warm a modest home as perfectly as our larger heating plants have warmed mansions, cathedrals, and even the White House itself.

ARCOLA is the practical fulfillment of that hope. ARCOLA is the baby of the American Radiator Company.

It is unlike any heating plant you have ever seen. It is boiler, radiator and water-heater combined—as handsome as a fine phonograph and costing hardly any more.

ARCOLA creates and radiates warmth in the room where it is placed, and connected with American Radiators, it will heat every other room and provide hot water for bathing and washing as well.

Comfort, security and health are ARCOLA's gift; and it pays for itself in an amazingly short time. The price is so low it will surprise you—50% higher last year than now.

For the sake of your whole family—your babies especially—go to your Heating Contractor and see our baby today.

The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (formerly called Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

AMERICA CONTENT WITH FOUR DELEGATES.

America believes that too many cooks may spoil the broth at the conference on limitation of armaments. It was announced at the White House that the United States delegation, as originally planned, would be confined to four members. Other nations are at liberty to send larger or smaller delegations, as they choose, but America will be represented at the conference table only by Messrs. Hughes, Lodge, Root and Underwood.

Tentative proposals to enlarge each Government's delegation to six were made in Great Britain ten days ago and have been undergoing informal consideration in Washington. The administration has come to the conclusion that everything the United States has to say and hopes to accomplish at the conference can be handled better by four than by six men.

Great Britain's interest in a larger number sprang from the desire to give the overseas dominions direct representation. She now is at full liberty to do so, as far as America is concerned, so the probability is that the British Empire rather than the British Isles will have its spokesmen at the Washington round-table.

It is pointed out at the State Department that the size of national delegations is inconsequential. Votes will be taken by countries, irrespective of the number of their representatives. The British Empire with six delegates or Japan with three will have just as many votes as and no fewer than the United States with four delegates—one vote.

Thus far only the Japanese Government has notified the State Department of the exact size and composition of its delegation. Japan says she will have three principal representatives—Prince Tokugawa, Admiral Baron Kato and Ambassador Shidehara—but reserves the privilege of increasing the number later.

SINN FEIN LEADER ACCEPTS BRITISH INVITATION TO ANOTHER PARLEY.

Premier Lloyd George's latest note to Ireland in which he stated Great Britain was willing to enter into another conference on October 11, "where we will meet your delegates as spokesmen of the people whom you represent," was interpreted as placing Eamonn Devalera in a position where he must accept without further qualification, and he did so.

In a brief, businesslike message, Eamonn Devalera informed Premier Lloyd George of his acceptance of the Premier's invitation for a conference in London October 11 on the Irish question, thus clearing the way for a momentous attempt to settle the centuries-old problem between Ireland and Great Britain.

Relief was expressed in official circles in London that the difficulties which for some time seemingly threatened to prevent another conference apparently had been cleared away by the message of Mr. Devalera. The reply raised no question as to the status of the Sinn Fein delegates, and no further correspondence between the Premier and the Irish leader is expected.

Although the Dail Eirean Cabinet sat for nearly three hours, the discussion of the reply to Premier Lloyd George's invitation to a conference occupied only a short portion of the proceedings, which were devoted mainly to other business. Decision on the reply to the Premier was unanimous, all argumentative points, by general consent, having been ignored.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON ISLAND OF YAP.

The proposed agreement between the United States and Japan concerning the status of the island of Yap was truly "good news," and news which gave the thoughtful citizens of both nations unmeasured satisfaction. The negotiations were carried forward by Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Shidehara. Under the new arrangement the United States will recognize Japan's mandate over the island of Yap, but will be guaranteed in return the free use of the island as a base for trans-Pacific communications without any right on Japan's part to censor messages flowing over the American wires, which may be operated by American nationals. Japan will also give her consent to the allocation to the United States of the Yap-Guam cable, and America's consent will be given to the assignment to Japan of the Yap-Shanghai cable, but these dispositions will be subject to the approval of the British, French and Italian governments, to whom, together with the American and Japanese, all the former German-owned cables were assigned by the treaty of Versailles. The final disposal of the Yap question will, it is believed, facilitate the allocation by the powers of all the former German cables, a task which the communication conference of the Allied and Associated Powers was unable to accomplish in a series of meetings in Washington. The Yap settlement will affect the United States and Japan alone, other nations not acquiring the same rights as will accrue to this country. This is the right way to settle international controversies. Both the United States and Japan conceded something. They approached the problem with a sincere desire to make a friendly and satisfactory adjustment.

EDWARD BOK RETURNS TO U. S. WITH FIVE DUTCH MASTERS.

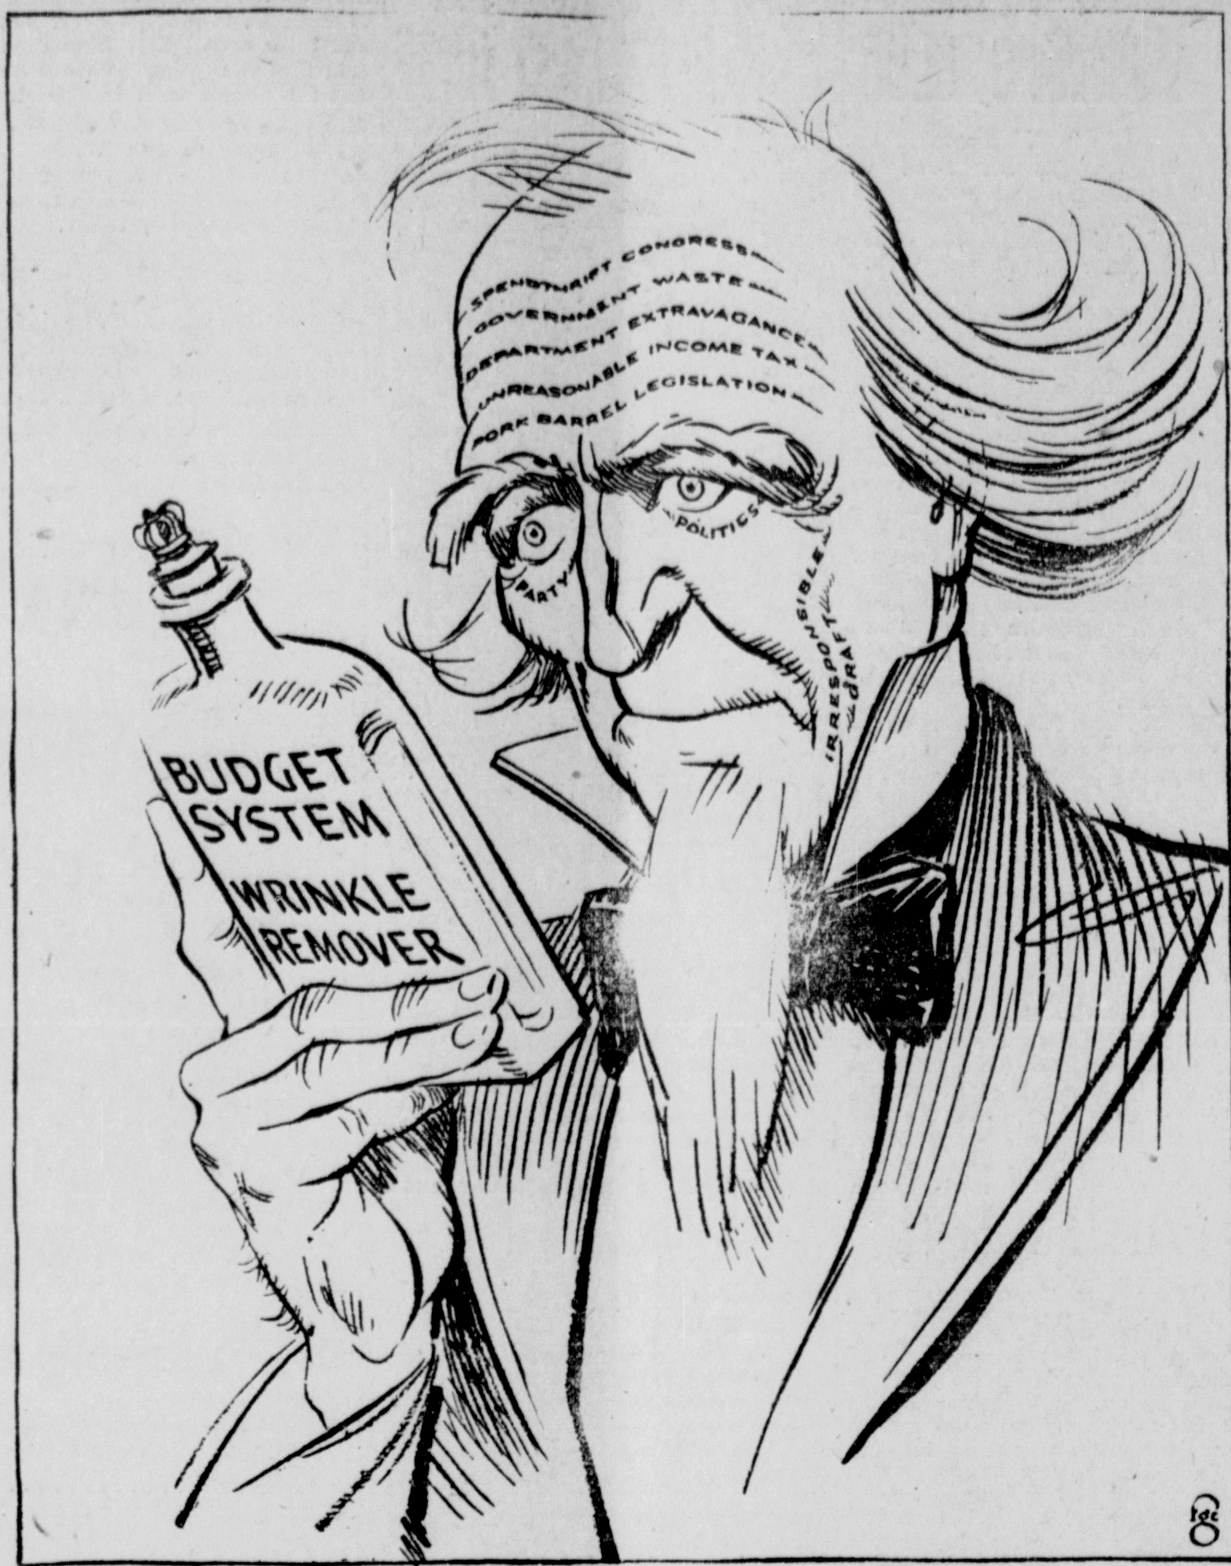

Edward Bok, for 30 years editor of the Ladies Home Journal, with his family, returned on the liner Rotterdam last Friday from a three-months trip to Europe, bringing five priceless oil paintings by early Dutch masters. The author of "The Americanization of Edward Bok" came home rejuvenated full of plans for this season's economic, social and operatic outgivings from the Philadelphia Academy of Music, and projects for the Sesqui-Centennial exposition to be held in 1926 in Philadelphia. Mr. Bok said: "The idea of a notable Dutch exhibit at the exposition was very favorably received by the Dutch Minister of Foreign Affairs to whom I presented the hopes of Philadelphia."

Which brings to mind the anecdote of the languid lady of fashion who once said to Mark Twain:

"Oh, you have been to Holland, one of those little countries of Europe?"

"Yes," drawled the humorist, "the same little country that settled New York in 1609 and still hold the Dutch East Indies, which are probably the most valuable colonies in the Orient."

DIVORCES.

Divorce news fill the public prints, and jar the gentle readers; and dames in silk and dames in chintz for court decrees are pleaded. They form a dismal caravan, these dames who tire of marriage; and now and then a locoed man looms up, with humble bridge. "Gadzooks!" we mutter, as we read, "oddsfish and eke swizzle! Is matrimony gone to seed? Are wedding vows a sieve? Our institutions are at fault, since sacred vows are shifting; is it not time to call a halt? Oh, wither are we drifting?" Where one female goes to court to have her vows rescinded, and be the melancholy sport of lawyers broken-winded, a hundred for their wedding rings, old fashioned homes adorning, and cherish still the filmy things they wore one marriage morning. The with woes of many tints, who want a separation, all break to the public prints, and make a large sensation. But happy ones who hold the fort don't get that sort of mention; they air grievances in court, and so escape attention. So when you read of divers dames, with troubles true or phony, who ask to have their maiden names and ample alimony, remember that for every one who takes these public courses, a hundred other women on the court that deals divorces.

A Woman's Message to Women:

"I thought I would write to let you know how I am getting along since I have been using your wonderful remedies. I am doing fine and now feel like I had something to live for. Have been a sufferer of female disorders for 15 long years and have tried many remedies, but they did not do me any good only for a day or so. Am sorry I did not learn of your medicine at the beginning of my ill health, as I feel I would have been a well woman years ago. I will forever praise your remedies, as they were a God-send to me, and you are at liberty to publish my letter. If you think it will help some other sufferer as it did me."

"I wish to write you to tell how much good your treatment did for me. I feel that it saved me from an operation, as I was bedfast when I began to use it, and my doctor said I would never get well until I was operated on, but so that was against my will. I never gave up, and now I am able to do my housework and laundry and am glad to recommend your medicine to anyone. You may, if you wish, use my letter."

LAD INJURED BY TRAIN SUCCUMBS TO HIS WOUNDS

Norval Fox, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Fox, of 38 Trumbull Street, died at the Espey Hospital, Wednesday morning, at 11 o'clock, as a result of injuries he received when struck by a fast passenger train west of the Pennsylvania depot, Friday morning.

The lad received a serious injury to his left leg, and since Sunday attending physicians held little hope of his recovery. Toxemia and gangrene which developed in the wounds hastened his death.

The boy was a pupil of the Opportunity School at Spring Hill and was struck by the east-bound Pennsylvania train, a short distance west of the depot, while on his way to school. He was taken to the Espey Hospital, following the accident, where his injuries were treated. It was thought at the time that it would be necessary to amputate the leg, but the operation did not take place owing to the nature of the injuries and the boy's physical condition.

Besides his parents, several brothers and sisters survive. Funeral arrangements have not been made and will be announced later.

COL. WOODS HEADS JOBLESS AGENCY

Informal machinery, voluntary in its nature, is being set up in the form of one of the conference committees, which, under the direction of Col. Woods, can receive reports from various communities of the progress being made and transmit to the different localities successful employment methods tried out in others.

According to Longman's story to the police Debro called on him, showing him several rough brass balls which he claimed were pure gold nuggets. Longman admits he bought them for $1,000 and then had an assay made to learn the alleged gold was but brass.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK WILL START HERE OCTOBER 9TH

Fire Prevention week, here starts Sunday, October 9, and will continue during the week, according to the announcement Tuesday of City Auditor T. H. Zell, acting manager, in accordance with Fire Captain Charles Mahanna.

While no special arrangements have been made for the week, people of this city are urged to enter into the spirit of the purpose of the time, and take unusual care in avoiding fires. H. A. Dykeman, state fire marshal, in announcing Fire Prevention Week hopes for organized effort directed toward reducing the life loss of 355 and property loss of $14,000,000 each year in Ohio.

In connection with the announcement of Fire Prevention Week, Fire Captain Mahanna is announcing that a state fire warden, will make an inspection of the city October 17, after the week of diligence. The state fire officers will inspect buildings and see that trash and rubbish piles likely to cause fire are removed and that fire hazards are done away with.

Governor Harry L. Davis, has issued a proclamation in connection with Fire Prevention Day, which is October 9, and cities all over Ohio are holding their fire prevention week, either so that Sunday, October 9, is the opening day, the final day or the middle day of the period.

In his proclamation, the Governor says: "The increasing and needless destruction of our country's resources by preventable fire is a challenge to our future prosperity. In spite of our costly experiences of ruinous conflagrations during the past half-century and our present great need of conservation, the burning up of our crested wealth, with attendant heavy loss of life, goes on apparently unchecked."

"Over $1,416,000,000 of our resources were destroyed by fire in the five years from 1915 to 1919 inclusive. Excepting for the year of the San Francisco catastrophe, 1920-witnessed the greatest year's loss we have ever suffered with a total of $500,000,000. The losses in our own state during the above five-year period were $40,809,680. But greater than this penalty that each of us pays to carelessness and IGNORANCE is the loss of human lives. Approximately 15,000 persons, mostly women and children, are burned to death in the United States each year, and a still larger number are seriously injured."

"Last year in Ohio 355 persons were burned to death and 573 were crippled or blinded by fire. Ohio's property loss for the year 1920 amounted to $14,000,000."

The prevention of this sinful waste is unquestionable one of the high duties of citizenship. It affects the welfare of each one of us and the future greatness of America.

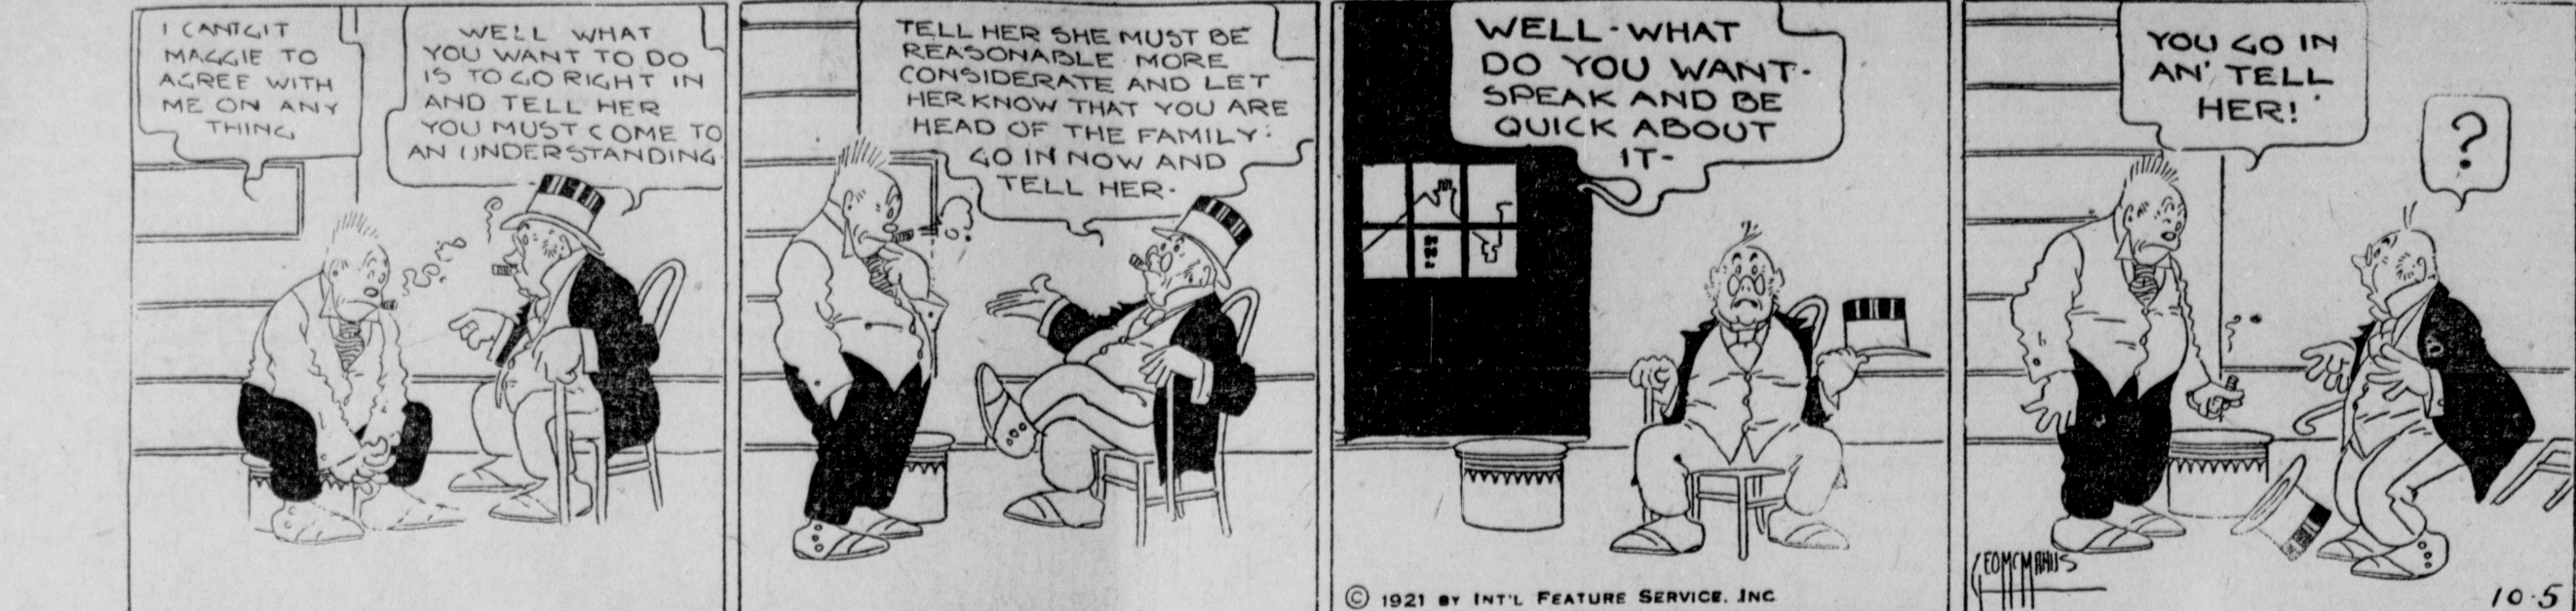

"Therefore I Harry L. Davis, governor of the State of Ohio, by the authority in me vested, do designate and proclaim, OCTOBER, 9th, 1921 AS FIRE PREVENTION DAY."

And I urge every citizen of this state to take an active part in making this year and period of practical value to that end. I trust that the proper public departments, in cooperation with chambers of commerce and other organizations may plan such instructive and educational exercises as shall impress the public mind with the purpose of this day's observances. I ask that our churches, through their pulpits and Sunday Schools, shall help to spread this doctrine of carefulness. I urge the promotion in our schools of systematic instruction in fire prevention, constant observance of the ordinary precautions that safeguard us from fire, and orderliness in home and community.

"Only by a public awakening to the ever-present fire peril and knowledge of the means to avert it can we prevent this calamitous wastage."

"May every citizen of our state

PAPER BOARD AT URBANA RESUMES

Urbana, Oct. 5.—For the first time since its completion last March the machinery will be started in the new $700,000 plant of the United Paper Board company on the 17th of this month when 75 men will be put to work, it was announced by Superintendent D. D. Briggs.

The mill has been down since the old plant was destroyed by fire in May 1918 and the announcement of its reopening is received in Urbana with much satisfaction; especially at the present time when many are predicting a hard winter because of the unemployment situation which developed last summer.

The reopening of this plant will be the second great boon to the unemployed in Urbana. The first was the reopening of the Illinois Car Shops some weeks ago. About one hundred men are being employed there now.

- ## REVUESTED PICKLING AND PRESERVING RECIPES
- L. L. Cucumber Relish: 12 cucumbers, 6 onions, 4 red peppers, 4 stalks celery, 2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons salt and vinegar. Peel and chop the cucumbers and onions. Discard seeds from peppers and put through meat grinder or chop finely by hand. Remove all coarse strings from celery and chop. Mix these ingredients together with sugar and salt and add enough vinegar to cover. Bring to boiling point, let boil a few minutes, then turn into hot, sterilized jars and seal at once.
- Eva: Green Tomato Preserves: Cut large green tomatoes in a half, then quarter the halves. For each pound of tomato add 3-4 of a pound of sugar and 1 lemon (all but seeds) thinly sliced. Put the sugar first into the preserving kettle with just enough water to dissolve it, then add the sliced tomatoes and sliced lemons and let come to a boil; simmer gently until the tomatoes are transparent and the sirup is thick. Seal in hot, sterilized jars at once.
- Mrs. E.: Oil Pickles: 5 dozen cucumbers, 1 dozen onions, 1 cup olive oil or salad oil, 1/2 cup mustard seed, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, vinegar. Peel and slice the cucumbers and onions. Cover them with a brine of boiling water to cover and 12 cup of salt. Let them stand in this brine for 2 hours, then drain. Measure the brine drained off and to an equal quantity of vinegar add the cup of oil, the mustard seed and the pepper; bring this spiced vinegar to the boiling point (the brine is a course
- (thrown away) and pour it over the pickles which have been placed in hot, sterilized jars. Seal at once.
- Citron Melon Preserve: Select a five pound citron, peel off the green outside, remove seeds and soft part, and cut in inch-square pieces; put these cubes in the preserving kettle with 1 cup of hot water and simmer for 1-2 hour, then add 4 pounds of white sugar. Cook a little longer (15 minutes) then add 1 lemon sliced thin (rind and all) with seeds removed. Now continue to cook slowly for 4 or 5 hours, stirring often and taking care not to crush the cubes, as they should be kept in as perfect shape as possible. When done this preserve should look light brown and be as thick as sirup. Stir particularly during the last half-hour, as this is the time it is most apt to catch and burn. This is a famous recipe with housewives of two generations ago. Your grandmother always had it in her preserve closet.
- Sweet Cucumber Pickles: Wash and clean green cucumbers, soak them in brine overnight; in the morning rinse, and cook until tender in a sirup made by combining 3 pints of sugar and 1 quart of vinegar, and spicing this sirup with 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon mace and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Seal at once in glass jars hot from being sterilized. (By "sterilized" I mean boiling the jars for 10 minutes or more in clear water.)

A CHANGE IS WROUGHT IN MARGARET CHAPTER 55

Without in the least realizing the change, Margaret Hayden was transformed within a few weeks from a merely beautiful, dignified, interesting young woman—the mother of a young girl—into a living throbbing personality; a woman whose cheeks paled and flushed at nothing but her thoughts, who smiled at herself in the mirror and who walked softly through a succession of rosy dreams. It has all come about so simply. Craig Forrester's return, his question regarding Hudson Baker, then the feeling of happiness.

Life suddenly ceased to be complicated. Margaret was satisfied just to live on enjoying to the utmost the feeling of content that had come to her. She even forgot to worry about Joan and almost decided to send for her and confess she had come to New York to be young once more, to live as she never could live in the town where where she was classed as old, because she was the mother of a grown girl and had been, in a very slight way, intimate with people older than she.

"I'll wait just a little longer," she said to herself. "Perhaps she wouldn't understand," then blushed violently at the thought implied.

Margaret had learned much since her arrival in New York, most of it from Mrs. Walters and her associates. She had learned many of the secrets of the toilet heretofore a locked book to her. She had learned the art of being perpetually fresh and charming, learned to care for her beauty until it bloomed with added lustre as the days passed, learned to love soft powders and rare toilet waters, fine linens, real laces, silks and satins. All these were no particular strain upon her purse, at least she could afford them without cramping herself. For years she had not spent her income, even though it never had been large, so she could now be as dainty as she pleased.

Sometimes she thought of marriage as she listened to the talk going on about her, and as she listened she formed her own ideas, found her own viewpoint upon the subject. She never would marry just for money, but as certainly she would not marry a man who could not give her at least as much as she had now, and added position in society.

She flushed crimson when her cogitations reached this point. Craig Forrester, dilettante, scion of an old and aristocratic family, wealthy companionable and sought after, was very attractive to her. That was as far as she got—owning he pleased her taste, now grown fastidious. Joan did not like him, but would she like any man who paid her mother attention? Margaret thought not. And now she did not cringe at the idea of displeasing Joan as she had in the past. She was living now, not existing, and the very fact that she was living gave her a sure independence of thought and feeling unknown in the past.

Margaret marveled at the attitude of the men she met, they seemed so inclined to flatter, to pay attention, yet to evade any serious attitude. It was with a generous satisfaction she presently came to realize that Craig Forrester was different; that he was more serious-minded, even while more entertaining than the others.

"He isn't afraid of a woman will marry him," she said to herself, "as are a lot of men. No woman could attach him unless he were willing."

Someway the knowledge gave her pleasure. For not only to her was Craig Forrester attractive, he was by way of being lionized by many society women, and was continuously invited to their homes, flattered, and fêted.

"The way women throw themselves at Craig is ridiculous," Mrs. Walters once remarked to Margaret. "Can't they see that he isn't the sort of man to be caught by such tactics?"

Margaret made no reply, but was pleased that Janet Walters with all her worldly wisdom felt as she, Margaret, did about Mr. Forrester. He was fast becoming more than a mere friend to her. She was frankly delighted when with him, and now that she saw him nearly every day she recognized the fact that she, if not in love, cared very much for him, his friendship.

Tomorrow—Margaret's Popularity Increases.
